

LIFE BLUEPRINT REPORT

for individuals who go by their Birth Name

October 7, 2022

GENERATED FOR

Birth Name:
Bradley Charles Cooper

Date of Birth:
January 5, 1975

● INTRODUCTION

The name and date of birth “inked” onto a person’s original birth certificate actually form what we call your life blueprint of one’s entire life. The effect that both the name and date of birth have on the newborn child is considered to be Program “A,” defining what the newborn’s full potential is in this lifetime. Admittedly other factors such as the child’s initial launching through home environment, the structure and moral teachings of their parents, the level of education, and the breaks that one may or not receive on the path of life will influence life’s experiences as the person proceeds along the path of self-fulfillment.

Not everyone lives up to their full potential during the course of their lifetime, so it’s essential to know what you were assigned at birth and where your journey truly begins. With this information, you are more likely to improve your communication skills and enhance relationships with everyone in your life and those to come.

By understanding all of these aspects of yourself through this report, you will be more empowered to make positive life decisions and set goals that can change and improve your life.

● TAKE THE TIME TO GET TO KNOW YOURSELF

This blueprint report is for anyone wanting to have a better understanding of themselves, seeking direction and navigating on their path forward from feeling lost or unsure of their next steps on their journey. The report is not meant to be a fast read; in fact, if you breeze through it, you may not achieve the best results. This report is intended to be a powerful tool for self-improvement, which requires taking your time to let the information settle in.

Your report is divided into four modules providing you with a deep dive into your character, development, lessons and opportunities and so much more on a very personal level. From the information presented, you will be able to assess your skills and qualities, and areas that need improvement. You will be empowered to review and reconsider your aspirations in life, by setting goals to realize and maximize your full potential.

Life is constantly changing, constantly evolving. We need to learn who we are and how to flow with change, how to move skillfully with it, rather than be a passenger on a roller-coaster ride. The more you know about the path you were assigned at birth by your date of birth and full given name, the easier it will be for you to navigate through life’s ups and downs, and the better equipped you will be to evaluate that original path with the direction you find yourself in today.

The most important journey you will ever take begins with understanding yourself, your strengths and weaknesses and divine purpose; only then can you learn to love yourself.

● YOUR LIFE BLUEPRINT REPORT

Think of this report as a navigation tool to accelerate the process for finding your purpose. Use it to stay on course throughout your life. It will lead you to fulfilling experiences based on the self-aware choices you make.

Your Life Blueprint report will explain and show you what your full potential is – from birth to advanced age – and is similar to looking at a consumer report explaining the pros and cons of something you want more information on that interests you. You will discover from your report what makes you different and unique from everyone else.

The information put forth in this report will allow you to understand your strengths and those areas of your personality which could use improvement. This information will help you make informed and responsible choices to support your happiness throughout your life.

Your Life Blueprint is a synthesis of ancient and modern sciences, technology and mathematics, and wisdom and knowledge.

Built on proven scientific algorithms and the timeless mathematics of Chaldean formulas (which are measurable and predictable), MM2 provides an innovative approach to enriching one's life as well as finding one's true soul purpose. We didn't invent it; but we did discover critical missing parts. And we don't tell you what to do, we explain what you're capable of becoming – and how to transition from where you are to where you could be.

● 4-MODULE PROGRAM

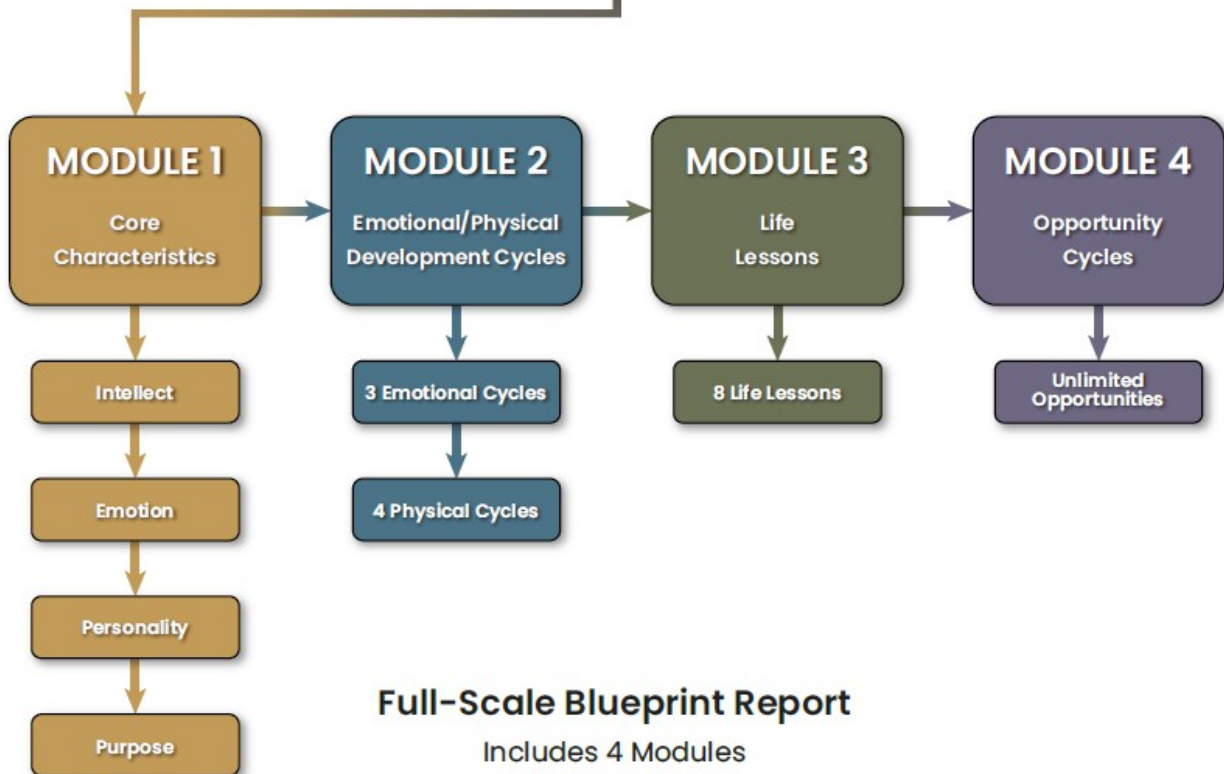

MM2 has provided a complete description of what you will find in each section of the four modules. Prepare yourself to be quite surprised and even shocked to discover what's "under the hood" in your Life Blueprint report. The content and recommendations presented in each unique report have been specifically tailored to your name and date of birth to accelerate and identify the areas of development for your potential to enhance your quality of life. An understanding of self should bring about a new mindset and new results.

Listed below are the four modules and components that you will find within Program "A" that MM2 offers for those individuals who go by their birth name.

These modules form your development program and are designed to flow in a specific-numerical sequence to be optimally effective for you – starting with Module 1 and ending with Module 4 – a process that will take you through each module, one module at a time.

Life Blueprint – Program A
 For Individuals who go by their Birth Name
 (Valid for Life)

● THE PROCESS

Each module is set up to lead you to the next module in a precise order – on purpose – so you will understand how each module operates. The components in each module must work independently – yet together – in order for you to develop those areas known as your “obstacle” course. Your obstacle course is what determines your personal development level in this lifetime which can take decades to master, if you are not prepared to work through challenges that you may have avoided.

The individual modules will be explained in the order prioritized that starts with understanding your core behavioral patterns (characteristics) – first – then identifying what challenges need to be identified and mastered on an emotional and physical level (development cycles). While you are working through personal difficulties, the life lessons can play a major role in slowing you down because they are intertwined with all areas and control how fast you will work through your difficulties in this lifetime. While developing those areas that have kept you from proceeding in your life successfully, you will then be ready to take advantage of the opportunities that await you.

The four modules are all interlocked with each other like tightly-fitted puzzle pieces. Once you intellectually understand your personal characteristics (behavioral traits), development areas, strengths and weaknesses and how all of your components work or don't work well together (compatibility wise) – then you will see the big picture of who you are and how much more you can be.

It is highly recommended that you start with the first module. Proceed to the next module in sequence only after you have “mastered” the concept of what's in the current module. There is a lot of information about you to digest, so take your time in reading through the content and recommendations designed especially for you. Until you absorb the information provided in the first module, MM2 recommends you not proceed to the next module.

Once you overcome life-assigned hurdles and are ready to move forward, opportunities will open up. However, this process can take decades of work and depend on specific critical growth areas that affect development assigned to everyone. If these areas are tackled and developed first, the assignments can eliminate decades of hardships. For example, sensitivity and avoiding confrontation are the two areas that affect all relationships, communications and personal behavior – either moving you forward when addressed and conquered or keeping you stuck or sending you backwards.

MM2 doesn't claim that the report will give you all of the answers you are seeking but based on the personal information provided, we are offering you vital information found in your Life Blueprint report which gives you a pathway to discovering hidden knowledge about yourself – the master key to success and your happiness. By studying your blueprint, you are making an investment into improving yourself, accepting responsibility for your life, and taking conscious actions to discovering your unique purpose and fulfillment. This report is all about you and how the information MM2 has provided to you can directly impact your life. Congratulations!

“An open mind with the desire to make changes in your life will allow new possibilities and greater choices.”

● TIPS ON HOW TO BETTER UNDERSTAND YOUR LIFE BLUEPRINT REPORT

To maximize the value of your report, you'll want to take a few minutes to absorb the important information found on this page.

- The combination of your birth name and date of birth (written on your original birth certificate) are the two components needed to generate your Life Blueprint Report (Program “A”) that will reveal what your full potential can be in this lifetime.
- If you legally changed your birth name, you will need the Life Blueprint report in addition to a Blueprint Addendum report (Program “B”) that reveals what the effect is of the name change (a limited report). The only two names that count are your birth name and your current full legal name. That means any other legal names used in the past are no longer relevant for this exercise. Nicknames don't count.
- If you are not in agreement with some of the content, there are reasons why this may be the case. If your name(s) were misspelled or your date of birth was written incorrectly, then your report would not be correct. Many times, the name that was spelled on your birth certificate and the birth name you are currently using may be two different spellings; hence, giving two different readings. If you've changed your name legally, often times there is a conflict between the names, creating internal power struggles. If you provided the correct information and still cannot identify with the details provided, it may be the result of being out of touch with yourself and that can be fixed as you will see.
- The younger you are, the less experiences you will likely have. In time, you will acquire more knowledge to make better choices as you travel on your journey. Your Life Blueprint report will provide guidance and prepare you for future challenges. Until those occur, some of the information presented may seem unrealistic.
- Reading through your report, you may notice recurring (identical) explanations in multiple areas and think this is an error – that's not the case. Your report is carefully calculated on information you provided and is unique only to you. In cases where there are identical descriptions within a module, the descriptions represent an area that you will need more work in to overcome an obstacle – that's why you were given the same assignment multiple times.

Following is Your Life Blueprint Report
Written in a 4-Module Program

For
Bradley Charles Cooper

MODULE 1: FOUR CORE CHARACTERISTICS

The following four behavioral traits (Intellect, Emotion, Personality and Purpose) make up your Core Characteristics. Each plays a very specific role in your life – acting like an individual contributor. Imagine coordinating all the contributors without a map to navigate your way.

YOUR INTELLECT #1

FIXED MINDSET: Aggressive/Independent

Intellect is your mental aspect and the controlling factor that determines your reality of receiving, perceiving, and judging. It is the primary trait that influences all decisions you make based upon fixed mindsets and interests.

You are likely to influence and direct others, teams or organizations.

You will probably choose to lead and direct others as a frontrunner through your efforts, the drive of your free will, and self-reliance. You were meant to be in the driver's seat as an innovator and leader, not a passenger or follower. Creativity, vision, and ambition are an inherent part of your thinking patterns. The force behind your ambition, great sense of humor, and innate executive ability will make you a better leader, provided you have learned diplomacy. Ideally, owning your own business or functioning as an executive fulfills your desire for recognition. The finer things in life that success brings enables you to influence the affairs of others. It's important to be reasonable with others and not become too domineering, strong-willed, arrogant, or driven by greed. Remain humble.

YOUR EMOTION #5NATURE: Impulsive/Spontaneous/Adventurous

Your Emotion is a driving force behind human behavior and will be a factor in decisions you make based upon your expression type and interests.

Your Emotional need is to be enthusiastic, resourceful, progressive, adventurous and crave freedom.

Your emotional nature propels you to bring about change as a progressive thinker and freedom seeker. You are naturally clever, witty and curious, liking variety and adventure. You are highly enthusiastic, resourceful, and creative. You thrive on being a part of the excitement of the world. You have fast mental and physical reflexes as well as intuition that naturally guides you. You dislike routine, detail and conformity. You are ambitious with a tendency to have too many irons in the fire – be careful of scattering your impulsive energies. The key to your success is maintaining a balance between your creative side and self-discipline – you could spin out of control and do things that you may later regret. Your desire for freedom may prevent you from pursuing commitments or relationships for fear of entrapment. You require grounding with your impulsive behavior. If you don't remain grounded, you may act hastily and impulsively making decisions that will affect your life for years to come. Stay focused and remain grounded.

YOUR PERSONALITY #4

CHARACTERISTICS: Nonaggressive/Controlling/Rigid

Your Personality forms the first real impression you make on others and is the physical aspect that influences the way you come across to others; and how they are likely to react to you.

Your Personality gives the impression of being conservative, hardworking and controlling.

You will be seen as a builder or controller who typically is hardworking, practical, dependable, stable, disciplined and a perfectionist who always seems to have their nose to the grindstone. You build structure and can appear to be bullish in wanting things your way. You thrive on hard work and would rather work than play. To others you appear to be rigid and controlling – work on being more flexible and less stern. You like to be judged on work performance rather than on your personality. You are seen as practical, stable and a tower of strength. You are trustworthy, reliable and responsible. All areas of building, finances, and project management would be ideal for careers to pursue. Be open to change and improving your communication skills.

YOUR PURPOSE #9

TRAITS: Nonaggressive/Compassionate/Emotionally Sensitive

Your Purpose reveals your life's mission and what you have available to express yourself in the world to gain the most out of living. It's what your higher self wants you to be but only you can decide if and how you wish to accomplish mission goals.

You are likely to choose a career path and achieve success as a leader, teacher, healer, philanthropist, writer/lecturer or in any position in the humanitarian arena.

You were more likely born to serve mankind as a humanitarian of the highest standard to the world. You are emotional, compassionate, tolerant, understanding and are devoted to working with others on a global level. You must live above jealousies, fears, and the greed of mankind to experience a successful life. You can achieve success as a spiritual leader, teacher, healer or as a philanthropist or any position working with others. Learn to give freely of emotions through inspiration, kindness and understanding. Stay impartial, taking things too personally or too seriously can bring you unnecessary pain. If you find that you must make unwanted sacrifices, face them, and resolve them. Be careful not to be so preoccupied with helping others that you don't take care of yourself or miss out of experiencing the domestic personal side of life. Because you belong to the world, your job is to serve but not save mankind. Balancing of the two worlds (personal and business) is essential to remain on track.

Once you have studied Module 1, then proceed to Module 2.

MODULE 2: THREE EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLES

Emotional Development Cycles are unique to you. These areas are calculated into three age ranges from birth to advanced age. Each age range is meant to be more progressive than the last one, so you become further developed and integrated as a human being in order to achieve your full capabilities.

YOUR FIRST EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLE #1 = IS MOST CRITICAL YOUR CHOICES HAVE CONSEQUENCES

AGE RANGE: 1 - 35

The First Emotional Development Cycle is the hardest to work through of the three development areas because it sets the stage for where your journey begins. There are no quick fixes or short cuts to personal development. This age span is where your inexperience may lead you to make decisions that impact the years to come from childhood into adulthood.

This age range will be an active cycle about developing yourself: independence, self-esteem and communication skills.

In this development cycle, you probably left home at an early age because you wanted your independence and/or to get away from the environment you were raised in. During this period, you were supposed to strive to lead, direct others, and to control your own path in all areas of your life. In order to develop leadership skills and to assume responsibility for this role, you must be able to confront on two levels (personal and business), not avoid confrontation, and to speak the truth. If you are too sensitive and avoid addressing conflicts, this characteristic can block your opportunities for success. Until those barriers are resolved, it will be difficult for you to assume a strong leadership role. You will either avoid or conquer the obstacles assigned to you. If you avoid obstacles intended for your development in this cycle, you will carry them into the next cycle until you have developed them for your personal growth. Your decisions – past or present – will determine your outcome.

Recommendations

Consider taking courses in personal development, counseling, and think about joining public speaking training like Toastmasters to improve your communication skills and self-esteem. This will enhance your confidence and courage to speak before strangers. Overcoming these obstacles is an investment in your future and key to your success. Find out how public speaking improved the lives of many people and is actually the perfect tool to enhance your ability to become more successful in communication and confidence.

YOUR SECOND EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLE #5

AGE RANGE: 35 - 62

The Second Emotional Development Cycle goes from early adulthood into mid-life. This is a cycle to work through decisions you made in the first age range that trapped you or you chose not to deal with at all. You will attract lessons along your journey to work on until you have mastered those development areas assigned to you at birth. There are no quick fixes or short cuts to personal development. Each age range lesson helps you become progressively more developed as an individual.

This age range is an impulsive cycle about your desire for independence, adventure, change, and avoiding responsibilities.

In this development cycle, it's time to let go of burdensome responsibilities or anything holding you back in order for you to experience more freedom of choice. If you feel trapped in your career or in a relationship, you may want to cut and run which may lead to overindulgences, impulsive behavior, and making bad decisions that you may later regret. You will learn lessons on how to manage your freedom responsibly. If managed well, will bring you great excitement. If managed badly, will cause recklessness and loss. Ideally, travel, change, and having variety in life make this an exciting time provided you remain grounded and do not avoid responsibilities for the sake of your freedom. You can easily spin out of control if you avoid conflicts and confrontation.

YOUR THIRD & LAST EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLE #22/4

AGE RANGE: 62+

The Third and Last Emotional Development Cycle is from mid-life to advanced age. It's the final emotional development stage for you to work through any remaining obstacles or challenges left over from previous years. By now you should know how to better yourself. You may still be work-in-progress. Maybe you think it's too difficult at this stage of life to resolve what you've avoided for so long. It will require an investment of time, emotions, and money to navigate the remainder of your journey – and it will be worth it.

This age range should be about ending a relationship, seeking a relationship or rebuilding in some way.

This development cycle is about moving forward in your life whether you're still working or planning to retire. Since work is an important element in keeping you busy, you will bring together people, ideas, and resources for building or rebuilding partnerships; either on a personal or business level. You like things your way. You may be ending a personal relationship or starting a new one from this point on. You probably struggle with communication skills and issues with confrontation – not wanting to hurt someone's feelings. You need to work on those skills – express yourself diplomatically because you work best in relationships.

MODULE 2: FOUR PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLES

Physical Development Cycles are unique to you and are calculated into four areas. The first, second, and third development cycles are challenges that have an associated age with each cycle for the purpose of guiding and developing you throughout time. The fourth development cycle is your main challenge and is felt throughout your entire life. This challenge influences all of the years of your life where the others are for a stated period of time. The main challenge will have an impact on any situation that arises in your life's experiences. Tackling obstacles early on will put you on a fast track.

NOTE: The descriptions in all four age ranges can be identical, or a mix of some of the same descriptions, or different descriptions. If these descriptions repeat themselves, it's because the development area assigned to you was the biggest barrier to overcome and needed to be repeated in multiple cycles for resolution. If you get a free pass in all four-challenge areas, that would mean you will pass through this life without being subjected to experiencing major difficulties (unless you choose them, which is always your choice).

YOUR FIRST PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLE #4 = IS MOST CRITICAL YOUR CHOICES HAVE CONSEQUENCES AGE RANGE: 1 - 35

The First Physical Development Cycle starts in childhood and continues into early adulthood. It's the hardest development area of all to work through. Most young adults are not prepared to go out into the world by themselves. The journey generally becomes a test of character until they are able to overcome areas that keep them stuck and struggling. Decisions made as a young adult are influenced by how they were raised and treated by their parents or guardians.

This age range should be focused on self-improvement, personal growth, and learning how to establish order in your life – be open to change.

In this development cycle, you need to establish foundation and stability in your life. It's important not to allow family members to control you – let life unfold naturally. Avoid being fearful, rigid, controlling or opinionated. Those traits will delay your progress moving forward. Your sense of responsibility can hold you back if you are accountable for others. You will not relinquish your responsibilities for the sake of what you need to change in your environment – you are too loyal. You may be ending or starting a new relationship during this time. Companionship is important making you feel secure and not going it alone. Letting go of the old for the new is essential. Your tendency is to procrastinate and postpone making timely decisions. If you came from an abusive childhood environment, embracing change to move ahead may be an obstacle until you work through personal issues that you've avoided. Your decisions – past or present – will determine the outcome.

YOUR SECOND PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLE #1

AGE RANGE: 35 - 62

The Second Physical Development Cycle starts in early adulthood and continues into mid-life. This is where you will work through difficulties resulting from decisions you made in the first physical development cycle and where you experienced unfavorable consequences trapping you from moving ahead in your life. This is a work-in-progress cycle to set boundaries, express yourself, and continue on a path for personal development and growth.

This age range is about cultivating your strengths and overcoming any weaknesses (insecurities and sensitivities) you may still be dealing with to become more confident and independent.

In this development cycle, the emphasis will be on becoming more independent, aggressive, and self-assured in order to become more seasoned and professional climbing the ladder of success. You will implement your ideas, embark on new opportunities, and to assume a leadership role when you have developed those areas that kept you stuck or struggling. This will be a positive change for you depending if you made progress overcoming impediments that hindered progress in the past on a personal or business level. You may be changing jobs, ending, or beginning a new relationship, relocating or offloading what no longer serves the purpose of bringing about new opportunities. You seek independence and the ability to be self-reliant with your desire to be successful. Your decisions – past or present – will determine the outcome.

YOUR THIRD PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT CYCLE #3

AGE RANGE: 62+

The Third Physical Development Cycle is from mid-life to advanced age. By this time, you should have learned – or come close to – setting healthy personal boundaries attributed to a strong sense of identity. It's necessary to speak the truth and protect yourself from being manipulated, used, or violated by others. To maximize the best results during this period, tackle remaining fears or hurdles that need to be overcome in this lifetime.

This age range is about self-expression, the desire to have excitement, and freedom in addition to traveling, romance, social activities, and creativity.

In this development cycle, you may decide to retire, travel, pursue new career opportunities or personal endeavors around family and friends. Cultivate artistic abilities such as writing, speaking, acting, art, and creative expression. This challenge requires you to develop socially and verbally if you have not done so by now. Avoid scattering your energies, efforts, and talents. This can be an impulsive time for you wanting freedom and playtime. You would rather play than work. This is a creative cycle to experience independence and bring joy based on an emotional level. Be aware of impulsive behavior – you can easily spin out of control and later regret a decision. You get excited and lose interest. Romance is important. You may be ending or starting a new relationship. Your decisions – past or present – will determine your outcome.

YOUR MAIN PHYSICAL DEVELOPMENT CHALLENGE #3

AGE RANGE: YOUR ENTIRE LIFE

The Main Challenge assigned to you is felt throughout your entire life (from birth to advanced age) and is the biggest challenge you will face in your lifetime. This particular challenge, if not mastered, will impact all areas of your life and slow down your personal development.

The main challenge assigned to you is to learn to speak up, to express yourself with confidence, while developing your artistic abilities.

During this lengthy challenge period explore the artistic and creative abilities you have. Once you feel passionate about what interests you, many more doors will be opened. You are impulsive, seek freedom, experimentation, and playtime. Find a way to ground yourself and avoid spinning out of control. You get excited and lose interest easily. You are likely to run from a situation you don't want to deal with to avoid confrontation. You appear to be outgoing but deep down inside you are insecure and lack self-esteem which you must overcome to move forward on your path. Conquering that barrier that keeps you stuck and struggling is your first priority. Avoid scattering your energies, efforts, and talents to control impulsive behavior. Remain grounded to curtail making spontaneous decisions that you will regret over time. This is a lifetime challenge for you to tackle those areas of personal development to find the happiness and fulfillment you seek.

Once you have studied Module 2, then proceed to Module 3.

MODULE 3: EIGHT LIFE LESSONS

Your eight (8) Life Lessons play a major role in your overall development and are unique to you. Each of these lessons is assigned a rating that pinpoints areas you are deficient in, making it easy for you to prioritize the lessons to conquer first above all others. If the rating falls below the minimum requirements, the lesson will be identified and explained in your report. Those Lessons that meet minimum life requirements will not be addressed but that doesn't mean you don't need to make any improvements in those specific areas.

When life lessons are developed, they enhance your personal growth. If you choose not to develop areas identified as challenges, those lessons left unresolved will affect your ability to live up to your potential assigned to you at birth and make your journey much more difficult.

Listed below are the eight life lesson categories that play a major role in your overall development:

- Lesson #1: Develop leadership skills
- Lesson #2: Overcome sensitivity & avoidance of confrontation
- Lesson #3: Develop creativity & self-expression
- Lesson #4: Establish stability & security
- Lesson #5: Manage freedom, change & responsibility
- Lesson #6: Work on relationships & service to others
- Lesson #7: Balance intellect & spirituality
- Lesson #8: Attain ambition & success

The Life Lessons checked below represent areas you need the most improvement in. They should be your top priority to work on in order to speed up your personal development.

Your Lesson #2: Overcome Sensitivity & Avoidance of Confrontation

Developing Lesson #2 is critical to expedite your overall personal growth. This is one of the two key development areas that determine your success in life. Overcome emotional sensitivity by dealing with conflict avoidance (confrontation) to move forward in relationships and achieve your goals. You must be able to speak the truth and stand your ground to avoid manipulation from dominant people. Public speaking is the best resource to build confidence and communication skills at the same time. Others seek counseling, classes, and support groups to deal with past abuses, drama, or dysfunction that blocked progress moving forward in their life. It's important you resolve this critical lesson as quickly as possible – it affects every aspect of your life.

Your Lesson #3: Develop Creativity, Self-Expression & Communication Skills

Developing Lesson #3 is critical to expedite your overall personal growth and is the second key development area that determines your success in life. Lessons #2 and #3 must work together in a team effort for effectiveness. Develop those two key lessons so you can express yourself with confidence. When you are able to confront, you are able to communicate, which leads to developing your creativity with freedom of expression. These behavioral traits are joined at the hip. Untangling them requires a commitment on your part to conquer fears that keep you stuck and struggling. Feeling confident and secure will open doors to pass through leaving behind a chapter that's been resolved and is no longer an obstacle on your path.

Your Lesson #5: Manage Freedom, Change & Responsibility

This lesson requires you to maintain balance in your life due to your need for freedom and change without avoiding your responsibilities. Unless you control impulsive behaviors, you can spin out of control by cutting and running. It's essential for you to remain grounded and avoid making spontaneous decisions that you may later regret. Cultivate concentration and learn the right use of freedom. Remain grounded and manage restlessness to control your life, or real success may never be fully achieved. Though you resist confinement, you need to build a solid foundation to go home to.

Your Lesson #6: Work on Relationships & Service to Others

This lesson requires you to resolve issues with self-esteem, emotional sensitivities, insecurities, and avoiding confrontation. Set boundaries to improve your interpersonal relationships. You will be tested until you demonstrate you can stand your ground and speak the truth. Do not be controlled or taken advantage of by others. Public speaking is one of the best ways to develop yourself, in addition to seeking counseling, transformational seminars, classes, or books on the subject or building a support system.

Once you have studied Module 3, then proceed to Module 4.

MODULE 4: FOUR OPPORTUNITY CYCLES

There are four Opportunity Cycles that identify your overall potential for success assigned to four different age ranges of your life that orbits your relationships and business dealings. Special opportunities present themselves during your life span as if doors will open to an expanded life. These opportunities will come and go. When you are ready to act, you can bring about shifts in career, mental outlook, emotional attitude, relationships and focus on goals. Positive steps allow you to make strides in personal development, overcome areas that trapped you in the past or prevented you from taking advantage of an opportunity offered during your life.

If the Opportunity descriptions are identical in any of your four age ranges, it's because that potential was assigned to you more than one time and is not an error on the part of MM2. The descriptions in your report are based upon mathematical and algorithmic calculations determined from your date of birth and therefore, the information is accurate.

YOUR FIRST OPPORTUNITY CYCLE #6 = IS MOST CRITICAL YOUR CHOICES HAVE CONSEQUENCES AGE RANGE: 1 - 35

The First Opportunity Cycle is most critical because the decisions you make during this age range have a far-reaching impact on the rest of your life. This period of time starts at birth and lasts between twenty-five and thirty-five years.

This age range emphasizes duty, responsibility, love of family, community and relationships.

This cycle will support the needs of others through teaching, counseling, caregiving, and healing on a domestic level. Be careful not to put others before yourself during this time. You tend to be a pleaser and nurturing. You over commit to others because of your sense of duty and protective nature. This cycle deals with relationships ending and new ones beginning. Domestic issues left unresolved in family matters such as a pending marriage, divorce, family responsibilities, or community need to be addressed. Harmony and balance must be restored in your life. You are a nester and require a loving and secure environment. You need to work on overcoming insecurities – if you avoid confrontation – that deal with drama or dysfunction in order to fully express yourself.

YOUR SECOND OPPORTUNITY CYCLE #9

AGE RANGE: 35 - 44

The Second Opportunity Cycle brings about door-opening opportunities, provided you are working through barriers that trapped you in the past. This period of time will last nine years.

This age range is a completion and ending cycle that brings a lot of changes and the desire to give up old thought patterns and habits that no longer nurture your life or lifestyle.

This cycle is a period centered around closures and endings which may turn out to be a difficult period that's highly charged and emotional. Some relationships may end in order to stimulate new growth. There is a good opportunity for business success once you let go of what no longer serves you. Until you resolve the obstacles on your path, you will not be able to take advantages of new opportunities. Lessons may be learned through tears and pain as well as moments of great joy and ecstasy. This cycle can be a favorable time to serve others as a humanitarian. You can expect changes to occur during this time causing emotional suffering such as ending of relationships, careers, relocating, or loss of any kind.

YOUR THIRD OPPORTUNITY CYCLE #6

AGE RANGE: 44 - 53

The Third Opportunity Cycle will make you feel ready and confident to take on new opportunities – more than past cycles. Opportunities include getting your affairs in order and making decisions you've put off. This period of time will last nine years.

This age range emphasizes duty and responsibility, love of family, community and relationships.

This cycle is a period dedicated to supporting the needs of others through teaching, counseling, caregiving, and healing on a domestic level. Be careful not to put others before yourself during this time. As a pleaser, you want to nurture. You overcommit to others because of your sense of duty and protective character but resent it later. This cycle deals with relationships ending and new ones beginning. Domestic issues left unresolved in family matters such as a pending marriage, divorce, family responsibilities, or community need to be addressed. Harmony and balance must be restored – you are a nester and require a loving and secure environment. You need to work past insecurity you may still be working through. Don't avoid confrontation that deals with drama or dysfunction if you want to attract better relationships.

YOUR FOURTH OPPORTUNITY CYCLE #23/5

AGE RANGE: 53+

The Fourth Opportunity Cycle can be exciting and rewarding – it will move you toward fulfilling goals that should have an enormous impact on what you will experience in this latter part of life based on your choices. This period of time is the fourth and final opportunity cycle that lasts the remainder of your life.

This age range brings the desire for romance, more freedom, self-expression, social activities, creativity, travel, and change.

This cycle is a period that carries a mix of elements combining cooperation, tact, diplomacy and emotions concentrating on partnerships (personal or business). This cycle is known for desiring independence, variety, and lots of playtime seeking adventure and excitement. Care should be taken to act in a responsible way during this lively and pleasant period. Be cautious not to overindulge in areas that lead you to spin out of control. Don't scatter yourself; let each new experience be useful in the process of learning and growing. It's essential you remain grounded to eliminate haste or make spontaneous decisions you may later regret. You may end or start a new relationship once you move past insecurity you're still working through. You are not fond of dealing with drama or dysfunction, especially if it means you have to speak the truth – you fear hurting someone's feelings. Once you confront a situation – and don't avoid it – you will draw in better relationships.

Once you have studied Module 4, you will have completed the MapMe2 accelerated personal development program.

● SUMMARY

Your Life Blueprint report is valid for a lifetime and what you were assigned at birth as your full potential. The combination of your free will, choices, opportunities and experiences will determine the roads you will travel on in this lifetime. Until you understand the role each of your behavioral traits play along with your development areas and lessons, it will be more difficult for you to fully understand how to navigate on your journey to take advantage of your opportunities without a navigation tool to guide you.

This report will provide you with vital pointers to help you build an effective strategy to reach your goals. We don't claim that this report gives you all the answers, but you'll find important insights and useful life tips to find your place and connect.

You probably won't be completely happy without understanding and accepting who you are. If you cannot find happiness inside yourself first, you won't find it in the outside world or in a relationship, because no matter where you go, there you are. Learning to find inner contentment in any situation is the essence of happiness.

Knowledge is power and seeing the big picture of who you are will have a powerful and lasting impact on your life which in turn, will help you choose a path that gets you closer to finding your unique purpose and fulfillment.

Your free will and choice will determine if and when you will tackle the difficult areas in your life: earlier on, mid-life, later in life or chose to do nothing this lifetime. Sooner or later, you must master the experiences you were assigned in order to graduate to your next level of development to transform into a higher realm of consciousness. This does not happen overnight and it requires you to do the work.
